Portfolio Manager Commentary

In the liquidity space, the first quarter of the year typically sees outflows due largely to a reversal of year-end window-dressing, the corporate tax date on March 15 and preparation for individual tax payments in April. Not so this year. Total industry money market fund assets under management held firm. What accounts for the difference? Lower tax payments due to the One Big Beautiful Bill likely played a role, but logic would point you to the US and Israel's attack on Iran in February. In such situations, investors often increase their holdings of liquidity or stable value products.

Yet the Iran conflict only accounted for one-third of the first quarter. Substantial assets poured into liquidity products in January and February, pushing industry money market assets to all-time highs in the week just before the attacks. Thankfully, the reason for this was positive — the attractive yields stemming from the elevated fed funds rate. In other words, cash is an asset class—gaining favor on its own merits, rather than a counter to geopolitical upheaval or anxiety over stocks.

Time will tell, but the war is likely to keep Federal Reserve (the Fed) policymakers on the sidelines longer. They maintained the target range of 3.50-3.75% over the reporting period and projected one additional quarter-point cut this year. If the spike in oil prices causes inflation to do an about face, it is unlikely the Fed will move at all this year.

The drama surrounding the Fed took a back seat to coverage of the Iran war, but little progress has been made. In mid-March, a federal judge dismissed the Department of Justice (DOJ) probe of Chair Jerome Powell. But the US attorney for Washington, D.C., said she would appeal. That overhang is preventing the Senate banking committee from sending Trump's nominee, Kevin Warsh, to a confirmation vote. Powell addressed the situation again at the March Federal Open Market Committee meeting, announcing his intention to serve as chair pro tempore until the Senate confirms his successor, pointing to precedent and saying he will stay on the Fed's Board of Governors until the DOJ probe is "well and truly over."

At quarter-end, yields on 1-, 3-, 6- and 12-month US Treasuries were 3.70%, 3.68%, 3.70% and 3.66%, respectively.
